

Dawn Frail is the President of Athena Executive Education Inc., a consulting firm that specializes in organizational health and executive development.

For the last three decades she has helped leaders in both Canada and the USA develop their leadership potential and unleash the talents of their teams.

Dawn spends her time speaking and writing about leadership, teamwork and organizational health. Her consulting projects with executives and their teams drives success by building cohesiveness and engagement. This creates a sustainable competitive advantage through a strong culture.

Dawn is the creator of The 10 Commandments of Ethical Leadership and author of The Ruby Report; How Organizations Can Profit By Promoting Women Leaders.

Dawn holds a Master's degree in Leadership from the University of Guelph, a diploma in Adult Training and Development from the University of Toronto/OISE, and a diploma in Computer Information Systems from DeVry Institute. Dawn is one of only a few Canadians registered as a certified Myers-Briggs® Master Practitioner. Other certifications Dawn holds include Leading Organizational Transition and Balanced Scorecard.

Dawn has experience in various industries, including Financial Services, Information Technology, Manufacturing, Sales, Education, and Non-Profit Associations.

Dawn is the proud mother of four sons, two granddaughters and two dogs.